Your point is well taken that any kind of paint that is obviously intended for camouflage could draw attention to our aircraft. I suggest you discuss this with Operations since I have the impression that the painting could be done in a way that we would not run this risk.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Development Officer, DPS/DCI [REDACTED]

SUBJECT : HiAc Camera

REFERENCE : Memorandum for SA/PD/DCI, same subject, dated 16 June 1958 (CHAL 0123)

I agree in general with your conclusion. More specifically it would seem to me we should follow the recommendation of [REDACTED] that any test be postponed pending at least a quick study as to the requirements of conversion of the HiAc camera for CHALICE use. If we do request such a study we should make clear to all concerned that there is very little chance that we will wish to go forward with this project.
